The Marionette

VOLUME NINE

NINETEEN HUNDRED THIRTY-ONE

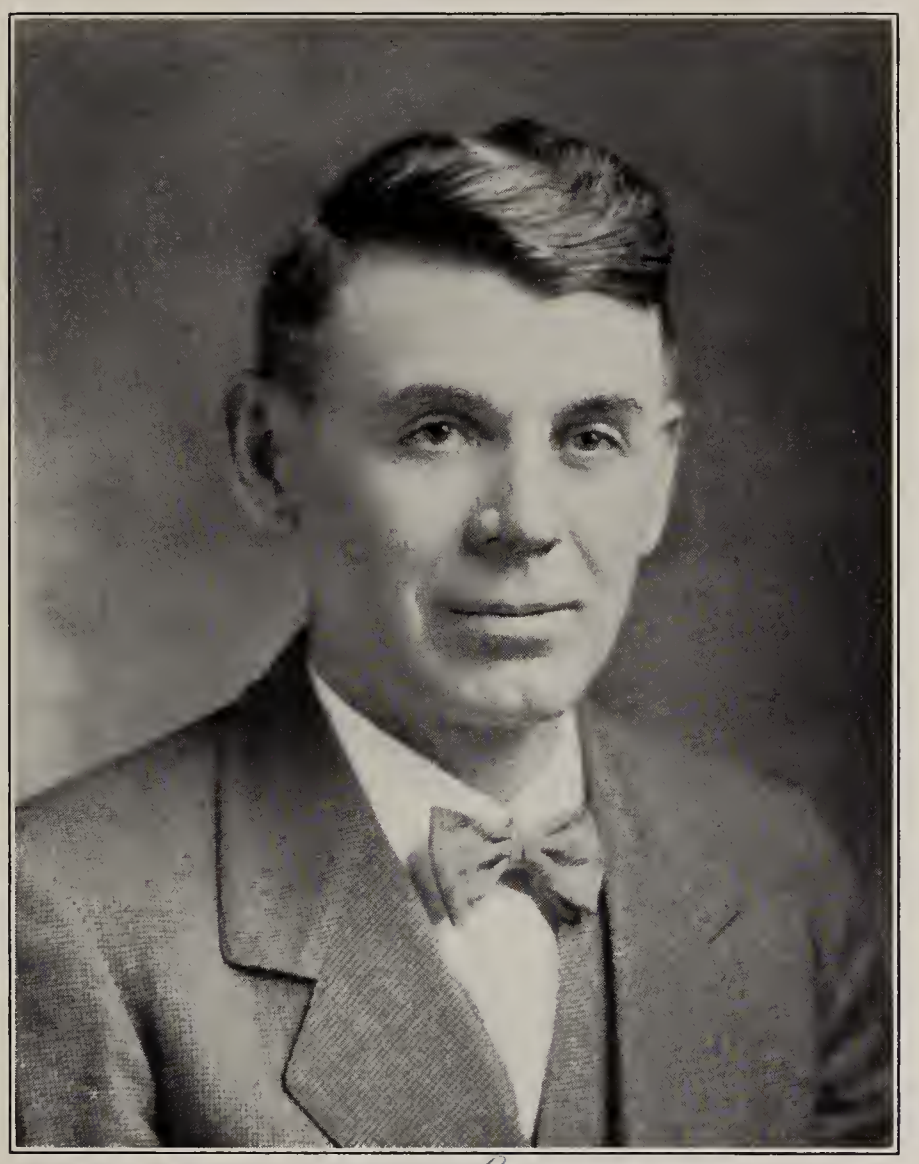
PUBLISHED BY

THE STUDENT BODY OF MARION COLLEGE

MARION, INDIANA

DEDICATION

TO HORACE D. WILLIAMS whose deep interest, unselfish services, and wholehearted support have been a great force in the upbuilding and maintenance of Marion College; whose kindliness has won him lasting friendship among the students and faculty; whose Godly life and example have been a blessing to all; we do dedicate, as a token of our sincere appreciation, this ninth volume of "The Marionette."



H. D. Williams

FOREWORD

IN AS MUCH as College life is closely analogous to an ocean voyage with its opportunities and dangers, storms and calms, heavy seas and high adventure, we have chosen for the 1931 "Marionette" the theme of navigation and have used the ship as the motive for artistic development.

The Faculty division is typified by a helmsman; the Student is illustrated as a young sailor studying charts; Activities are characterized by a man on duty in the "look-out;" the Athlete is pictured as the sailor at the capstan bar; while the Feature section is represented by a painter decorating the ship. It has been our purpose through this symbolism to faithfully portray every phase of student life in Marion College.

Well, then—our course is chosen—spread the sail—
Heave off the lead, and mark the soundings well—
Look to the helm. Good Master—many a shoal
Marks this stern coast, and rocks, where sits the siren
Who, like ambition, lures men to their ruin.

There is a tide in the affairs of men,
Which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune,
Omitted, all the voyage of their life
Is bound in shallows and in miseries.
On such a full sea are we now afloat,
And we must take the current when it serves,
Or lose our ventures.

Seniors

FRED O. HUNT, A.B.

Morgantown, West Virginia

English

Student Conference President '30, '31; Class President '31; Gospel League; Amphictyon President '30; Glee Club.

The number and variety of organizations of which Fred has been President speak better than any words of his fine Christian spirit and his ability as a leader.

LUTHER H. KIMES, Jr. B.S.

3608 S. Gallatin St.

Marion, Indiana

Chemistry, Mathematics

Chemistry Assistant; Class Treasurer; Chemistry Club President '29, '30; Basketball '30, '31.

"Lute's" quiet, unassuming attitude has as a background a combination of the inquiring mind of the scientist and the reasoning power of the mathematician.

ESTHER S. FORD, A.B., B.S.

Kisumu, Kenya Colony, E. Africa

English, History

Gospel League; Amphictyon; Evangelical League; Tennis Champion '30.

Whether it was to win the cup in the tennis tournament or to sell the greatest number of subscriptions in the Marionette contest, Esther has proved herself a "go-getter" and by her enthusiasm and energy has made herself a valuable member of our student body.

Seniors

FRANCES M. DAVIS, A.B., B.S.

Fairmount, Indiana

Biological Science, English

Eureka President '30; Assistant in Biological Science; Gospel League; Y. M. W. B. Vice-President; Ministerial Association.

Frances has been prominent in the religious activities of the school and as a delegate to the Convention of the Gospel League proved herself worthy of our trust in her.

H. HELEN PITTS, A.B., B.S.

Lewis Creek, Indiana

English, Science

Editor Journal '31; Editor Gospel Torch '31; Amphictyon; Gospel League; Evangelical League.

An outstanding member of the student body through all of her college life, Helen has concentrated her abilities on journalism as editor of the "Journal" and of the "Gospel Torch."

VIRGIL VERNON HAMMER, B.S.

Warren, Indiana

President Amphictyon Council '30; President Amphictyon '26; Vice-President Student Conference '26; Marionette Staff '26; Ministerial Association; Beaux Art; President Debate Club.

Mr. Hammer, prominent in activities and noted as a debater, has always been a source of enthusiasm and life in the affairs of the "Old Triangle."

Seniors

LEAH M. STUMP, A.B., B.S.
3426 S. Boots St.
Marion, Indiana
English, History, Mathematics

Journal Staff; Amphictyon Secretary, Beaux Art; Associate Editor Journal '30.

Leah's eight years here through academy and college will be remembered even by alumni as the career of an "A" student. Her literary talent, characterized by dependability and originality made Leah valuable as Associate Editor of the Journal.

WILBUR F. FOSTER, A.B.
503 Wabash Avenue
Marion, Indiana
Science, History

Marionette Staff '31; Chemistry Assistant; Eureka; Bund Societas; Basketball; Orchestra director.

"Web," the director of our orchestra, reflects a generous spirit through his ever-present good humor and cheerful disposition.

LORENZO A. HARVEY, Th.B.
Old Fort, North Carolina
Theology

President Amphictyon '31; President Theological Class '31; Evangelist, Student Conference; Men's Glee Club; Amphictyon Quartette.

Although Mr. Harvey has been with us only a year, his abilities in music and leadership in religious activities have made him prominent and well-liked by the student body.

Roland E. Linder

Seniors

ROLAND E. LINDER, Th.B.

Marion, Indiana

Greek

Eureka; Ministerial Association; Basketball.

Although interested in all phases of school life, Roland is outstanding as a conscientious religious worker.

WAYNE LEE, B.S.

Liberty Center, Indiana

Science, Mathematics

Due to his position as a teacher in the Wells County Schools, Mr. Lee has taken his work through extension courses and in summer school and consequently is not as well known to us as we wish he might be.

CHARLES W. TAYLOR, A.B., B.S.

Alexandria, Ohio

Class President '29,'30; French-Spanish President '31; Journal Staff '29; Eureka; Y. P. Society President '31; Basketball '28, '30, '31; Tennis '31; Gospel League.

The many positions of responsibility which Charles has so capably filled bespeak our confidence in him and have revealed his admirable qualities of dependability and thoroughness.

Seniors

C. C. DECKER, Th. B.

Music

MUSIC IS THAT divine art which influences the best of our emotions. It is the connecting link between our inner and outer lives. True music bids us awaken the echoes of the spiritual in our lives and fills us with kindliness and with an incentive to nobler endeavor. Music is an art of such an unusual nature that every one should study it. Marion College has recognized the importance of good music. It has incorporated in its curriculum all those finer things which lead one to have an innate appreciation for the good and beautiful.

Under the capable leadership of Professor Herman Baker the School of Music has steadily grown. Professor Baker has had much experience as a conductor and as a teacher of voice. He has the rare gift of making music live.

Mrs. Gretchen Thomas Parker ,professor of piano, has created much added interest in that department during the past year. She has many piano students who are becoming capable musicians under her direction.

The Chorus composed of one hundred and twenty voices from the College and the community made a most excellent record for the year. The Christmas Cantata, "The Christ Child," was presented with a depth of enthusiasm that lifted and inspired the audience. The chorus "Olivet to Calvary," produced in both listeners and singers the true Easter spirit.

The college is indeed proud of its new musical organization—the Men's Glee Club. This group, composed of nineteen men including the director and accompanist, has given programs every Sunday evening since the first of December in churches both in Indiana and Ohio, thus introducing the work of the College to an increased number of people.

But the Music Department of Marion College must not stop here. It is looking ahead and planning greater things for the coming year.—F. E. O. '34.

Music Lecture Course

Dr. J. A. Huffman, Lecturer

THE FIRST NUMBER of the Mus.:-Lecture course was an illustrated lecture on Palestine by Dr. J. A. Huffman given on the evening of November fifth. The lecture covered that part of Dr. Huffman's recent trip abroad in which he visited Palestine. A great many scenes of special interest were shown including the shrine at the place of Christ's nativity and the places said by traditions to be the garden of Gethsemane, Mount of Olives and tomb of Joseph of Arimathea.

Phidelah Rice, Reader

On November twenty-fifth, Marion College was indeed fortunate to secure Phidelah Rice for the second number of the Music-Lecture course. In his presentation of "The Man of the Hour" he made his audience live with the hero, a young mayor, in his struggle for straight politics and the love of a girl.

In response to the demands of an appreciative audience, Mr. Rice read several shorter readings as encores.

Jan Chiapusso, Pianist

A grand piano recital on February eighteenth by Jan Chiapusso constituted the third number of the lecture course. Professor Chiapusso is a Dutch pianist of note and offered a well selected group of piano numbers including Choral Preludes, Sonato op. 35 C flat minor by Chopin and several unique compositions from the "Java" Suite by Godowsky. His interesting accounts of the stories of several of his numbers added color and his excellent interpretation ably retold the story.

Dr. J. A. Huffman, Lecturer

Again on March twenty-seventh, with the aid of many beautiful colored slides, Dr. Huffman took his audience to far lands. Beginning the trip in London, after visiting Westminster Abbey and the palaces and the Houses of Parliament, a hurried journey through Holland brought the visitors to Germany and Berlin with its palaces, cathedrals and other buildings of note. Going south through the beautiful Alps of Switzerland and to Rome where all paused to view the Vatican and ruins of Ancient Rome. Continuing to the quaint little town of Oberammergau where the chief players of the Passion Play were introduced and the auditorium shown, in which, every ten years, the play is given.

School of Music

The concluding number of the Music-Lecture Course was given April twenty-fourth by the College School of Music. The orchestra, glee club, quartettes and solo numbers were the features of the evening. The numbers were delightfully presented and were well received by an appreciative audience. This final program of the Music-Lecture Course brought to a climax an unusually successful year for the Marion College School of Music.

May we from wisdom's topmost mast
Look out o'er life's e'er broadening sea;
And see ahead new storms to brave,
New lands to reach, new skies to scan.

MARION COLLEGE JOURNAL

"MARION COLLEGE IN PRINT"

VOLUME XI. Marion, Indiana No. 4¼

EDITORIAL

Colleges, like persons, are possessors of a more or less distinct personality. Community friends, church supporters, or alumni have not been asked to state in so many words their observations on the traits of Marion College; they have, by virtue of their relation to the institution, said that it was good. Students may be blinded by the closeness of view but they can see clearly enough to ascertain those traits of character which need to be strengthened in their Alma Mater.

Among such constructive opinions it has been suggested that too often interest centers only in the class rooms, gymnasium, dormitories and chapel. Students sometimes fail to see that college is meant to prepare them for living more completely; for becoming active members of home communities, participants in local church work and citizens of a great commonwealth. These privileges have not been fully appreciated, but to the thinking, striving student it means progress, to participate in the affairs of one's environment. The sphere of student interest and usefulness is not Marion College alone but a great moving universe.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The climax of the Harvest Day activities was the final matches of the singles tennis tournament. Bernard Martin met and defeated Wilbur Foster 8-6, 6-2, 6-3 in the men's singles, while Esther Ford won over Kathryn Dawson, 6-0, 6-1. There were twenty-one entries in the men's singles, while the woman's tournament had sixteen entries. The champions in the men's and women's singles are each to receive a trophy from the Tennis Club.

She—"Sir, do you realize to whom you are speaking? I am the daughter of an English peer."

He—"That's all right; I am the son of an American Doc."

CHAPEL NOTES

There have been many interesting chapel periods the past week. Professor Porter has been delving into the relation between mathematics, the exact science, and the Bible. He presented some of his findings on the subject at the chapel hour recently. His discussion led immediately into the theoretical concept of the fourth dimension in space. An acceptance of fourth and higher dimensional space, while vague and incomprehensible to dwellers in third dimensional space, explains passages of scripture which otherwise can only be accepted by faith as true.

JUNIORS WIN BASKET-BALL TOURNAMENT

The most exciting tussle of the season was fought, when the Juniors vanquished the Freshies, thereby proving their superiority on the floor.

It was anybody's game to the end of the first half. At this point the Juniors took an edge over the Frosh and held the lead through the rest of the game. The final score was 18-15, in favor of the Champion Juniors.

SENIOR SNEAK

On the dawn of November fifth, the college seniors, not at all daunted by the depredations made in their wardrobes by certain impertinent underclassmen, set merrily forth, via automobile in search of adventure. The Dune State Park was their destination. At Plymouth a halt was made and a hearty breakfast eaten. Conversation, songs, and stories made the time pass quickly, as mile after mile of road was covered.

At last the entrance to the park was reached. Each Senior was eager and expectant as the cars followed the narrow road which wound among the dunes. Suddenly an open space was reached and there, its blue green water whipped by the winds, into tossing waves, lay Lake Michigan. The Seniors entirely forgot their dignity as they raced with the incoming waves. Climbing, scrambling, slipping and sliding in the sand, they followed a trail over the dunes. At last they reached a high spot from which they looked over the rolling dunes, and the lake to the skyline of Chicago. With appetites whetted by the climb over the dunes, the Seniors hugely enjoyed the steak fry which followed. The trip home was filled with fun and good fellowship. This sneak day will always be a happy memory for each Senior.

CLARITY OF VISION has been termed a touchstone of spiritual power. The truth of this statement was unmistakably demonstrated in Christ's life and ministry. Above the surging throngs who came to Him to be ministered unto, His voice, strengthened by divine purpose, rang out, "I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day; the night cometh when no man can work."

Those who are training for life's work, whether it be in answer to a definite call to public service or simply the challenge for right daily living, have found that spiritual vision must not be dimmed but clarified during this period of preparation. There is no more effective means of keeping the world's needs uppermost in one's thought while in school than contact with those needs. The Student Conference provides opportunity to the students and faculty to meet and supply as far as possible such spiritual needs not within the immediate student group alone, but also in the city.

The student prayer meetings, held each week, have been made sacred by God's marked presence in prayer and witnessing for Him. The Thursday evening services in no less degree have testified to a deep current of spiritual life at which times many have definitely sought and found Christ as a personal Savior and the Holy Spirit as an indwelling presence.

Outside the student group five fields of religious activity have afforded opportunity for contact with the world's spiritual needs. The weekly services at the jail were conducted by Lorenzo Harvey and the Friday noon services at the Factories were under the direction of Kenneth Wegner. Bi-weekly services at the County Infirmary and Emily Flynn Home were supervised by Esther Ford and Bernard Martin respectively. The Sunday School conducted at the Children's Home was superintended by Helen Pitts, assisted by a corps of regularly attendent teachers.

According to His promise, God has guided in the religious activities of the past year and abundantly blessed all efforts to clarify the vision of the world's needs.—H. P. '31

THE YOUNG PEOPLES' GOSPEL LEAGUE is a national organization formed in 1928 for the purpose of spreading Scriptural Holiness among young people.

Since the convention held at Taylor University last year, which was attended by several Marion College students, there has been a deepening conviction on the part of some that a chapter should be formed here. Definite action was taken a few weeks after the opening of school this fall. The result is a chapter composed of almost fifty members.

Due to the generosity of Professor West in consenting to drive his car, a delegation of four was enabled to attend the annual convention which met at John Fletcher College, University Park, Iowa. The delegates were Helen Pitts, Frances Davis, Bernard Martin and Fred Hunt. A most inspiring and profitable session was reported. Delegates were present from several religious schools. The one thing outstanding was the blessed fellowship among the delegates and students of John Fletcher College.

Although Marion is a new chapter, two of her members were chosen to fill national officers, viz: Ivan Calhoon as general secretary, and Helen Pitts as editor of the official organ, "The Gospel Torch." Mr. Calhoon will be traveling during the summer months speaking for the League in the great camp meetings of the country and forming new chapters wherever possible.

The young people of the Marion College chapter, count themselves fortunate in being able to bear to others the glorious message of a "full Gospel." There is sufficient reason for being optimistic regarding the future of an organization with a purpose so high and holy.—F. O. H. '31.

THE LEAGUE OF EVANGELICAL STUDENTS, a country-wide organization, was founded in 1925 with the aim of exalting our Lord Jesus Christ. As a means of accomplishing this end a four-fold program was adopted, namely, to set forth the gospel of His grace as presented in the inerrant Word of God, to proclaim the joy of Christian living through the indwelling power of the Holy Spirit, to present the claims of the gospel ministry at home and abroad, and finally to promote the intellectual defense of the evangelical faith.

Marion College, a Christian institution in which the majority of the students are professed followers of Jesus Christ, presents a unique field for the League work. Strongly evangelistic, deeply spiritual, and passionately missionary, Marion College, through the Student Conference and the Y.M.W.B., has for some time emphasized the first three points in the League's program. It would seem, therefore, that the activity of our chapter would of necessity be concentrated on the idea outlined in the fourth part of the League aim, the promotion of the intellectual defense of the evangelical faith. With this thought in mind, there were offered to the student body from time to time during the school year, carefully prepared selections of reading material, designed primarily for the purpose of imparting information along such lines of truth as may have been perplexing to some.—T. M. '33.

Y. M. W. B.

IT HAS BEEN well said that no church can have a deep spiritual life without a true missionary spirit. With this in mind, the Y. M. W. B. has tried to bring into its meetings something of the life and activities of the mission field. Many letters and suggestions for prayer have been brought to the students from those engaged in mission work, and there has been a definite response on the part of the students.

EDWARD BENEDICT
President

In spite of the hard times this year the Band has been unusually successful in raising the salary of Mary Greene, who is on the India field.

This year's convention was a time of great spiritual growth and uplift to the school. Soul stirring and challenging messages were brought by the Reverend Charles L. Slater who has had experience as a missionary in Africa, South America, Mexico, West Indies. The Spirit of God was near in increasing blessing as the convention progressed. Few could listen to such messages without feeling the importance of sending the gospel light to those who are in darkness. In the afternoon meetings round table discussions were held. The qualifications for a missionary, what constitutes a call, the needs of the field, the method of presenting the Gospel, and its acceptance were among the topics discussed.

The last night of the convention an African scene was presented showing the missionary and his interpreter as they told the story of redemption to a group of natives who had gathered around their evening camp fire.

The greatest result of the year has been the number of young people called of God into His great Harvest Feild. Some are preparing to go as medical missionaries, some to teach and others to enter hitherto untouched fields. Those who are not going have realized that those who do go to the field must be sent, and have consecrated their talents to the Master that He might use them to send others.

MARY GREENE
Our Missionary to India

The Band wishes to express their deep appreciation to Professor DeVol for his excellent example and Christian character, and to assure him that they will support, with their prayers, his work in China.

LITERARY SOCIETIES properly functioning contribute in an unique and valuable way to college life. They are among the forces which should combine to mould the college graduate into a thoughtful, poised person. They combine with classroom and religious activities in the formation of character. Students endowed with skill in writing or speaking, find in the literary clubs opportunities for development, opportunity to practice in actuality what, in the classroom, they learn in theory.

To this task of stimulating and training the student body, this year finds the Amphictyon Literary Society, as usual, keenly alert. The talent displayed in the presentation of the first public program, as well as the cordiality of its members, led many of the new students to become Amphictyons, and their choice has not been disappointing. On the contrary, the enthusiasm widened in the Marionette Contest and the literary contests in the spring, the interesting public programs and most of all the opportunity for self expression have converted them into loyal "Amphics."—L. "EXCELSIOR!" cry the Eurekans, as they strive ever upward and onward. With such a motto as this, they are bound to win.

Since its birth in 1920, the Eureka Literary Society has steadily grown and developed, not only in membership, but also in the scope of its activities and the definiteness of its accomplishments. The purpose of the club is "to fit members for the varied duties of life, to promote social activities among the students, to cultivate a correct mode of speaking, to qualify each one by practice to express his opinion in public in a correct manner and to derive benefit from the ideas of others." The fulfillment of this purpose has been brought about by the varied public, closed, or chapel programs, in which the members developed their various talents through their participation.

One of the outstanding honors which came to the club this year, was the winning of the Marionette contest, for which the Eurekans were rewarded with a handsome trophy case. An enthusiastic club spirit has been manifested through out the year, both in the presentation of the programs and in the club meetings.

THE INTER-SOCIETY COUNCIL

THE INTER-SOCIETY COUNCIL is an advisory body composed of the President and two members from each Literary Society, together with the faculty representative, Dr. Huffman. It is the purpose of this Council to arbitrate between the two Societies if differences arise and to promote interest in Fine Arts. The elected members this year were Helen Pitts and Fred Hunt, Amphictyons; Edward Benedict and Harold Fraker, Eurekans.

THE AMPHICTYONIC COUNCIL

The advisory body of the Amphictyon Literary Society is known as the Amphictyonic Council and is composed of all those who have been president or secretary of the society. These serve as chairmans of the major committees and their respective psoitions are determined by their priority of office. It is the duty of the council to interpret the constitution; advise in problems of importance and to promote the general interests of the Society.

THE EUREKAN LAUREATES

The Eurekan Laureates are a group made up of the presidents and secretaries of the Eureka Literary Society the past two terms and chairmen of the major committees serving at the time. The Laureates function as an advisory board for the society and it is through the efforts of its members that much of the important work of the club is accomplished.

LITERARY CONTESTS

One of the activities which does much to stimulate the interest of the students in the Literary Societies and their work every year is the Intersociety Contest which culminates on Commencement Day with the giving of one hundred dollars in prizes to the winners of first and second places in the several contests. The contests and prizes offered are:

Oration	$15 and $10
Short Story	$10 and $ 5
Essay	$10 and $ 5
Extempore Speaking	$10 and $ 5
Dramatic Reading	$10 and $ 5
Best Poem	$10 and $ 5

REALIZING that art is one of the refining influences of life, students of Marion College have organized the Les Beaux Art Club. To promote interest in art, to deepen the appreciation of the beautiful and to develop the artistic talent of its members is the worthwhile purpose of the club. For some time there has been a real need for such an organization. Under the capable guidance of Mrs. Tuggle, the art instructor and Miss Powell, the club president, it has become an active force, contributing its share to the culture of the school.

The club launched its social activities with a studio tea. The art rooms were given over entirely to an exhibit by Mary Anderson of Jefferson, an illustrator of child life. A short program was enjoyed by the many guests.

The club assists in sponsoring each art exhibit held at the downtown studio by the Municipal Art Association of Marion, by taking charge on Saturdays. This affords to the members a splendid opportunity to study the compositions and to enjoy pictures by foremost artists. The artists themselves are often present and lend charm to the exhibit.

One of the outstanding events of the year was the trip made by club members to Indianapolis, where they visited the John Herron Art Institute and Capitol buildings.—R. G. '33.

THIS YEAR THE increased interest in world activities and in peoples of other nations has been evidenced by the greater number of members in the French-Spanish Club.

The purpose of the club is to acquaint the students with the customs of Spain and France, and by means of contest and games to broaden their vocabulary and their knowledge of the French and Spanish languages.

The meetings of the club are both educational and recreational. Besides the talks given which add to the general knowledge of the conditions of the countries, a friendly spirit of social contact is manifested at the parties and tend to make the organization one of the well-rounded activity.

SINCE educational institutions were first established Latin has been a fundamental subject in the curriculum. Dr. Einstein's theory has produced much comment and bewilderment. Possibly these facts explain why so many Marion College students are enrolled in the Latin and German classes.

In the fall of 1929 the students of Latin and German, assisted by their instructor, Professor Batson, joined together and formed the Bund Societas. The purpose of the Club is to promote greater interest in the early classics, especially Latin and German from which most of the English language is derived, to do research work in these subjects, and to promote good social feeling among the students. Any student who is taking or has taken Latin or German is eligible for membership.

Many very interesting meetings have been held by the club since its organization. During the past year the German group held a very elegant banquet at whch only German was spoken. The year closed with a formal banquet staged by the entire Club. Interesting talks were made by students concerning the relative merits of German and Latin and the research work done.

The future of the club appears very promising for each year finds the club much farther along than it was the year before.—G. J. W. '31.

To the Alumni of Marion College and Marion Normal College:

IT IS WITH a mixed feeling of profound appreciation and sincerest greetings that we write you this note. Appreciation because we are delighted with the splendid manner in which the "Marionette" is being carried on from year to year. We feel sure there is no better way to portray the life of our Alma Mater, both spiritually and materially than through the avenue of an annual issue such as the "Marionette." We are confident that its publication has guided many individuals to her portals.

Though small in numbers, yet we are proud to say that we can produce substantial facts, which, when used in a comparative manner, will convince the majority of people that we rank among the first institutions of learning which stand for "the spiritual along with the material" standard of learning. Where Christianity enters civilization begins. While Christianity is present, civilization thrives and flourishes. Then, just as soon as Christian fellowship ceases, so to the same degree will civilization decline. Thus we see that it IS hazardous to separate the Spiritual Education from the Material Education. They are both essential. Without one the other is handicapped. So, why shouldn't we point, with pride, to Marion College, which stands as a living monument and testimony to our Creator as well as to the work of man.

In behalf of the officers incumbent of the Alumni Association of Marion College and Marion Normal College, I am happy to have this opportunity of extending to you our sincere greetings and best wishes. We trust that the past has been kind to you, and we are wishing you the best the coming year has in store. Do you appreciate the fact that we still are glad to receive messages from you? We receive friendly letters from the Alumni from time to time and we certainly appreciate them. Will you not add your name to the list and cheer us up still more?—M. D. Roberts, '26 President.

SINCE the inception and reorganization of the South Marion Business Men's Club in 1922, it has maintained a very unique place in the affairs of the community in South Marion. The club has at all times taken a lively interest in the progress of the various institutions of this community, and no institution has merited a greater support than Marion College. It is hard to estimate the far reaching influence of the school in the religious, the moral, the educational, and the cultural sphere in this community, as well as in the city.

It is the purpose of the club, as has been set forth in its recently adopted constitution, to foster all worthy enterprises and lend its support to all institutions that make for the betterment of the community life. It is especially desirious to encourage every institution of religious, moral, educational and economical value. Its desire is to maintain a high standard of morale among the business interests, the factory workers, and the citizens in all walks of life; to promote progress in the growth of civic interest and projects that help to better serve the community and city.

The club has recently been incorporated and has also received recognition from the various factory corporations in South Marion, who have all taken memberships with the club. This manifestation on the part of these great interests will no doubt assist in the more rapid progress of this fine community. The club has made good will tours to each of these factories, as well as to Marion College; also has sponsored a banquet in honor of the business men's wives at the McCulloch Junior High School.

On Wednesday night, March 11, the 1931 Basketball Season came to a climax as the Freshmen and Junior squads pitched a final battle on the hardwood.

The tilt that was to decide the championship started with spirit and increased in interest until the last whistle. Martin, of the upperclassmen decided the trend of the game by shots from under the basket and mid-floor in the first few minutes of play; at the end of the first quarter the tally stood 8-2.

In the second round the Frosh quintet opened fire for a 5 point gain but did not overtake the Juniors, the half ending 10-7. Benedict went in for Brown at the half and Linder shifted to forward. The first year men staged a spectacular comeback in the third session which tied the score 12-12.

The crowds were in a frenzy as the squads went into the final round with even scores and a determination to win the title.

On the first play DeVol went under the hoop for a 2 point gain and Linder followed next from mid-floor. The Freshmen made good a free throw, making the score 16-13. Porter of the emerald crew snagged a 2 pointer in the last few minutes of play but Booth, captain of the Juniors capped the climax and clinched the victory for the upperclassmen with a perfect sinker from back of center, making the final count 18-15.

Review of Basketball Season

THE CLASS TOURNAMENT brought to a close an unusually successful basketball season. Six teams, each with a determination to win the All-School Percentage Tournament, began the season. The teams that entered the race were: Senior, Junior, Sophomore, Freshmen, Normal and Academy. However, the Normal team lost two of its best men and had to drop out, making all of their games null and void. The teams seemed evenly matched for the first part of the season, but soon, the Academy team began to show inferior ability to hit the hoop.

The season was two-thirds over with four teams equally anxious for the crown, each having won two and lost one game. First the Freshmen played the Sophomores and defeated them, coming out on the long end of a closely contested game, 23 to 21. Next the Juniors took the Seniors into camp, 26 to 14, leaving the championship game between the Freshmen and Juniors.

According to the public sentiment of the "Triangle Fans" the championship game was the most closely contested, best-played game of the season. The Juniors came out of a 12 to 12 tie in the last quarter to win the game and the tournament with a count of 18 to 15.

Each class team had an individuality which contributed to a successful season.

Seniors—Lions.....Cool play
Junior—Tigers .....Team work
Sophomore—Bears .....Stick-to-it-ive-ness
Freshmen—Wildcats .....Ability to find hoop
Normal—Badgers .....Sportsmanship
Academy—Gophers.....Peppy rooters

The games were full of punch and snap because so many of them were close. Out of eleven games played; one game was won by one point, one game by two points, one game by three points, one game by five points with two overtime periods and many other closely contested.

Baseball

The underclassmen have challenged the upperclassmen to a dual on the diamond. Clarence Davidson was chosen to lead Freshmen and Sophomores, while Nathan Booth was elected captain of the Junior and Senior nine. The winner of two out of three will be declared champion.

It rained the first two games and, as the Marionette went to press before the last one, we can give no report of the outcome.

Letter Men

In order to promote interest in athletics, the Athletic Association is awarding to the six men receiving the highest number of points in basketball, baseball, tennis, track and calisthenics, large chenille M's. These will be presented on Commencement Day.

STUNT NIGHT

THE PUBLIC EXHIBITION of Physical Education which took place the last night of the Fall term attracted scores of visitors. Its unusual features of skill, sport and comics sustained intense interest throughout. As the scene started under the spell of subdued scarlet lights, the boy's calisthenics with snap and pep set the pace. Girls next skipped to place to imitate in Danish rhythmical ease the pendulum swing of a clock. The atmosphere of solemn wonder was then turned into peals of laughter by the mimicry of colored comedians, James Silvernale and Wayne Mortimer. The boys further presented a human stunt drill, tumbling and stunts and a Roman Wrestle. These were alternated by the girls constructing pyramids, and performing stunts, novelty races and cage ball. The intervals between each feat was packed with clown acts so cleverly staged that none refrained from laughter. These daring and ludicrous events were capped by a sensational peanut contest offering every one present a wholesome good time and a social hilarity.

IN DEVELOPING the three-fold life in Marion College proper physical development has not been neglected. The Girls Hiking Club has an important place in this phase of school life as well as being a medium of pleasure and rest from school duties. Since a brisk hike in the cool air is a great mind freshener, we often see a group of girls hiking merrily along on a bright sunshiny morning, or if the "dead-line" is near they may even be seen plodding along some muddy highway in the midst of some of our April showers.

In addition to the benefits derived while hiking, at the close of the school year the hikers are rewarded, if they have completed the required number of hikes, totaling a distance of 100 miles; for the first year they are given a fine red and black "M" and for the completion of 125 miles the second year, hikers receive a felt winged shoe. This year as a result of perseverance a few hikers attained to 135 miles and will be awarded the felt bar as the third year hiker's emblem.

The Hiking Club gives opportunity for every girl to enter into the athletic life of the school and through it to receive the benefits which are so necessary in her career as a student. It is one of the organizations through which she is trained and developed for her part in life. What hiker will not appreciate her school days at Marion College more because of the Hiking Club? —M. Girls' Gym Classes

THE PURPOSE of Athletics in Marion College is to develop the body physically as well as mentally. Health and vigor, good thinking and good conduct. Happiness and usefulness depend upon a sound body as well as a sound mind.

Every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon we laid aside our books and cares and hied to the gym for an hour's diversion in the form of exercises. Basketball, tennis, stunts and games under the instruction of Waldo Keeler. In the fall and spring when the weather was favorable, tennis took the place of gymnastics.

This year a new feature was introduced by Mr. Keeler. The six girls scoring the highest number of points received a letter "M". Points were given for sportsmanship, posture, tennis, basketball, hiking, and various stunts as the noveltywalk, heel jump, rising sun, chinning and twirling the wand. These contests did much to add to the interest in the classes.—I. H.

Herein the joy of living
Those little things of pleasure giving,
The diversities of sailor life;
As the painting of the figurehead
To add new beauty to the ship.

Editor—"Well, how goes the skirmish with advertisers?"

Bus. Mgr.—"'Distressin'! They say they are back of us in spirit . . . .

Ed—" . . . . but not in person."

Bus. Mgr.—"Quite right, when we turn around to sell them advertising they're not there."

Ed.—"What did the School have to say?"

Bus. Mgr.—"They said they would help us provided—

(A sudden out-burst of shrieks interrupts the conversation as a half-dozen co-eds dash madly past the door.)

Ed—"How did you say they would help us?"

Bus. Mgr.—"They said . . . . (knock is heard on the door and deliveryman from Hoosier Cleaners enters)

Deliveryman—"Pardon me, but does Miss Turner live here?"

Bus. Mgr.—"No, she lives upstairs."

(Deliveryman starts upstairs to be intercepted by Dean Ayers)

Ed—"What is the proposition?"

Bus. Mgr.—"That we present our . . . (deafening uproar in kitchen drowns out conversation.)

SCENE II.

Jan. 31, 9:55 p.m., Bus. Mgr. and Editor in office; enter Art Editor.

Bus. Mgr.—"How many photos have you?"

Art Ed.—"I received four this week and have two more promised."

Ed.—"Has Harvey had his taken yet?"

Art Ed.—"No, but he will as soon as he gets over the measles."

(Enter Special Feature Editor)

Ed.—"Got any features ready to proof-read?"

Feature Ed.—"Yeah, I feel an idea comin' on right now."

Ed.—"Well, make it snappy, the printer is calling for copy, if we keep him waiting, he'll hold up the book indefinitely."

(Conducting class in music room start practicing "Drink to me only with thine eyes." Whereupon all staff members go out to tea.)

SCENE III.

Feb. 13, 11:59 a.m., Editorial Staff seated around table; enter Snapshot Editor.

Snap Ed.—"I just got the swellest picture of Thomas Smith pushing a wheel barrow."

Ed.—"Take the film down and have it developed right away—this is the last day for snapshots."

(Snapshot Editor opens camera and finds he forgot to put in film.)

Ed.—"Are the pictures of the basketball teams finished?"

Snap Ed.—"Yeah, I'll have them taken tomorrow for sure."

(Editor retains composure and promotes Snap Ed. to Assistant Editor-in-Chief.)

SCENE IV.

March 15, 12:30 a.m., Art Ed. and Associate Ed. working feverishly on panels as Editor enters.

Ed.—"Are the panels ready to mail tonight? This is the dead-line for engravings."

Asso. Ed.—"Yes, some of them."

Ed.—"How many?"

Asso. Ed.—"Well, when I get this one done and two more—there will be three."

(Camphor bottle is uncorked for Editor)

Enter Literary Editor.

Lit. Ed.—"Here are the club write-ups, exactly on time as I said I would have them."

Ed.—"Fine, where did you find them?"

Lit. Ed.—"In the file."

Ed.—"I don't understand why they should be in my file."

Stenog.—"Oh, I found some write-ups in the lower drawer and put them in your file."

Lit. Ed.—"Well, aren't they all right?"

Ed.—"Yeah, they're O. K. but everything in the lower drawer is copy from last year."

Fuse burns out and scene ends.

SCENE V.

Wednesday Night, 7:58. Enter Bus. Mgr.

Bus. Mgr.—"Goin' to basketball game tonight?"

Ed.—"No, hafta write this Forewcrd, by the way call the Sport Ed. and have him write up the game."

Secretary finds that Sport Ed. is out of town.

Ed.—"Then have the Snap Editor do it."

Sec.—"He is going to play tonight."

Ed.—"Then I have to do it myself."

Editor starts to basketball game but is intercepted by "high pressure" office furniture salesman.

SCENE VI.

"Marionette" Office, 11:01, Same Night.

Ed.—"How is the advertising coming in?"

Bus. Mgr.—"Punk! Fraker reduced his ad from one-half to one-sixth of a page for his Watkins products, and the Bakery has refused to advertise since Mrs. Daily makes the doughnuts."

Ed.—"How is the subscription campaign coming with the Alumni?"

Bus. Mgr.—"Well, we're raising a lot of interest."

Ed.—"That's Great! How many copies have you sold?"

Bus. Mgr.—"None, but they all want to borrow a copy when it comes out."

—And so on far into the night—

A Triangle Affair

A Young Ladd named Allen of Marion College once met a fair maid of Teter Hall. In order to Foster their friendship he went Dailey to see her and as the term advanced he spent almost his Hull time there.

One evening after a visit to his Taylor, Allen drove his Ford in the direction of Teter Hall with the intention to Habgood time. As he neared the Hall a Young Guyre, rather a Young man, called to him to stop his car.

"Wait till I Turner around and Parker!" cricd Allcn.

When the car had stopped the Ladd asked what the trouble was and why he had asked him to stop when he was in a hurry.

"There's plenty of trouble," rcplied the Young man. "I came to Hunt you because William-son of Clark Brown, the Baker, is waiting for you at the Mayne entrance to "Fite" you and win your girl."

"Thanks, old man," said Allen, "I Sutton-ly appreciate your telling me, but I'll not let it worry me."

The Ladd sat on a Stump to decide what to do. Presently he arose and entered a telephone Booth and postponed his date fifteen minutes, then he bought a Hammer and several Billiard balls.

After cranking his Ford the Ladd quickly drove the remaining distance to Teter Hall.

As the car stopped, William came a-Sisson and said that since the lady in question had gone upstairs to Decker-self he wanted to "Fite" to decide which one should escort the fair lady. The Ladd threw a Billiard ball and a Howl-ett him know it had reached its mark.

"Well if that's the way you feel about it, all right. I don't want any Moore," said William in a weak voice as he rubbed his Pate, turned Heal and Shambaugh-ld West.

A slight Russell behind him told Allen that the Young lady had seen and heard. He turned Andrew her out into the night Ayres and as the moon shone Orem he told her what had happened.

The height of dieting is the individual who refused to wear a stiff collar because it had too much starch in it.

"Mr. Chairman," complained Mr. Hammer, stopping in his address, "I have been on my feet nearly ten minutes, but there is so much ribaldy and interruption, I can hardly hear myself speak."

"Cheer up, Mr. Hammer," came a voice from the rear, "You aren't missing anything."

Dear Ole Friend.
In all the years I've spent at M.C.A. I'll always remember the Pit Bull dog and the rubber mask.
your V. L. Reedy

And, when the stream
Which overflowed the soul was passed away,
A consciousness remained that it had left,
Deposited upon the silent shore
Of memory, images and precious thoughts
That shall not die, and cannot be destroyed.
